You were cruising down the freeway in your new piece of car
Well I was behind you before I ~~need~~ knew it, that seems to be my style
Revving up my engine, slicken down my hair next.
I pulled up to you + I guess I sorta stared - Yeah - I bet I did

Sitten behind the wheel of that red hot Mercedes-benz Well
Was the finest looking lady my tired eyes had seen or since
The thing about this vision + why I stopped my head.
Well this chick was driving naked + smiling as I stared + I said Alright.

The police were there when I come to -
Yeah - There were so many flashing Red things I didn't know quite what to do

There were hauling off the mess of what used to be my car & picken up the pieces of my brand new Les Paul guitar. Yeah - that's what they was doing hauling it off in little bitty pieces

My brain recoiled in anguish but when I tried to rise Well I found that I was strapped in! * they took me by surprise Well then realization hit me + events snapped into place the world vanished again behind your sweet young smiling face Couldn't see her do a thing - Then I took a ride —
